Objectives.

The purpose of this course is for the students to develop elementary proficiency in speaking, reading, listening, and writing in Ukrainian, while acquiring some basic knowledge of Ukrainian culture, history, geography, and way of life.

Upon completion of the course, students who have attended classes on a regular basis, successfully completed all assignments and all tests and exams with a minimum grade of B- should be able to:

- have Ukrainian pronunciation and grammatical accuracy well enough to be understood by a native speaker of Ukrainian
- provide basic information in Ukrainian, both orally and in writing, about themselves, their family, likes and dislikes, everyday activities, studying, as well as some immediate needs, such as ordering food and making simple purchases;
- understand and participate in simple exchanges on everyday topics (e.g., meeting people, school, shopping, give simple explanations about and description of people and things, etc.) in most common informal settings;
- use and understand a range of essential vocabulary related to everyday life (e.g., days of the week, numbers, months, seasons, telling the time and date, family, food, transportation, common objects, colors, etc.).

Course requirements.

Assignments and class performances are based on an expectation of approximately an hour and a half to two hours of home preparation for each classroom hour.

Attendance is mandatory. More than two unexcused absences may adversely affect the student's final grade. Students who miss a class are expected to do additional make-up assignments and learn all missed phonetic, grammar, and conversational material including home assignments, quizzes, and tests. Students who miss a class because of illness or a university obligation must submit to their instructor an official note (from the doctor's or university office) justifying their absence. Students are asked to come to class on time and to inform the instructor in advance of any anticipated absence.

Written homework assignments are due for the following class unless otherwise stipulated and will be returned on the following class day. The instructor will not accept late homework. Students are to submit their assignments at the end of class without additional reminder. Assignments must be neat, legible, and written in cursive style. Word stress should be treated as if it were a letter and should always be marked in every single word in all written assignments. Assignments should be written with left-side margins and in every other line, to leave sufficient room for work with mistakes and instructor's comments. Assignments marked (in writing) are to be written on a loose-leaf paper and submitted to the instructor at the end of every class. Oral exercises should be treated as seriously as the written ones. The detailed weekly break-down of the classes with conversational and grammar topics described and assignments will be provided as the course progresses under the Assignments part of the Courseworks.

Oral preparation is as important as all written work and will greatly improve students' ability to participate in class and develop their language skills. Students are required to participate individually or in-group work on a regular basis in order to improve your speaking skills. Regular work with the phonetic materials available on CD is essential to learning Ukrainian. Both oral and written exercises are to be made so that the student knows the meaning of every form, word, and sentence, how to vocalize the material with correct pronunciation, intonation, and logical stress. The students should vocalize everything they write as part of their preparation, paying careful attention to the position of the word stress.

Tests and quizzes. The dates of Lesson final tests are announced by the instructor at the beginning of the week the test will be taken. Tests are cumulative, i.e. they include all previous material. No-shows will receive a grade of zero. Tests and announced quizzes must be taken on time unless the student is sick and calls the instructor before the test. Shorter lexical, phonetic, and grammar quizzes will also be given without advance notice. Quiz scores are a preparation and participation part of your course grade. Any assigned material can be tested as part of such blitz quizzes.

Grading. The course grade will be determined according to the following formula:

activity in class	30%
written homework	25%
lesson final tests	20%
final exam	25%

Each student is graded based on the progress s/he made compared to where s/he started and not in comparison with other students in the group. Students are encouraged throughout the course to take risks and create with language. A system of bonus points is used to encourage students' creative approach to language learning. For example, an additional correct variant provided by a student in a test (quiz, exam) will be awarded bonus points. The criterion of activity in class is the instructor's holistic evaluation of the student's acquisition of such language skills as listening comprehension, speaking, reading, writing and the level of speech production both oral and written that is sustainable. It also includes such strategic skill as creating with language.

Grading scale:

Each home assignment, quiz, weekly test, and the final examination will be evaluated on the scale of one hundred percentage points. The correlation of the scale with the letter value of the final course grade is as follows:

97 - 100% = A+

93 - 96% = A

90 - 92% = A-

87 - 89% = B+	83 - 86% = B	80 - 82% = B-
75 - 79% = C+	72 - 74% = C	68 - 71% = C-
60 - 67% = D
0 - 59% = F (failure)

University Honor Code and policies on academic integrity

All students should be familiar with the University's undergraduate Code of Honor, reproduced below, and with all policies concerning academic integrity set out by their school. By attending class sessions beyond the second week of the semester, students affirm that they have read these policies and accept them unconditionally.

We, the undergraduate students of Columbia University, hereby pledge to value the integrity of our ideas and the ideas of others by honestly presenting our work, respecting authorship, and striving not simply for answers but for understanding in the pursuit of our common scholastic goals. In this way, we seek to build an academic community governed by our collective efforts, diligence, and Code of Honor.

I affirm that I will not plagiarize, use unauthorized materials, or give or receive illegitimate help on assignments, papers, or examinations. I will also uphold equity and honesty in the evaluation of my work and the work of others. I do so to sustain a community built around this Code of Honor.
